

Piedmont Columbus Regional Midtown PGY1 Pharmacy Residents

Dr. Shelby Barron is from the small town of Pinson, Alabama. She received her Bachelor of Science in Healthcare Management from the University of Alabama at Birmingham before going on to earn her Doctor of Pharmacy from Auburn University Harrison College of Pharmacy. Her practice interests include ambulatory care and oncology.

Why I chose PCRM: I chose to complete my PGY1 pharmacy residency at Piedmont due to the variety of rotations offered that would help shape me into a well-rounded, practice-ready clinical pharmacist. Having started at Piedmont as an APPE student, I knew the preceptors would support me both clinically and emotionally during the transition to pharmacy resident.

Dr. Caitlin Brown is from Helena, AL. She obtained both her bachelor's degree and PharmD from Auburn University. Her pharmacy practice interests include acute care, critical care, and infectious diseases.

What I have enjoyed the most so far: What I've enjoyed most is the welcoming environment and the sense of belonging from day one. I feel as though I'm right where I belong. The fast-paced clinical setting has challenged me in the best ways, and I've appreciated how each day brings new learning opportunities. I also love how residents are treated as integral members of the healthcare team. Our input is requested regularly, and you can see how it shapes changes in the program. Our feedback isn't just welcomed; it's actively sought out often and put into action.

Dr. Neta Burford is from American Samoa. She obtained her PharmD from Auburn University Harrison College of Pharmacy. Her practice interest is ambulatory care.

Support through transition from student to resident: The supportive nature and the invested learning culture that I experienced on my student rotations encouraged me to return as a resident. The consistent mentorship, approachability, and willingness of preceptors, RPD, and the pharmacy staff towards me has helped tremendously in making the transition from student to resident seamless. Since the start of the program, my confidence and clinical knowledge have grown significantly.

Dr. Shemaiah Caine is from Columbus, Mississippi, and earned her PharmD from the University of Georgia College of Pharmacy. Her practice interests include Infectious Diseases, Critical Care, and Pediatrics.

Why I chose PCRM: I chose Piedmont Columbus Regional Midtown for its commitment to resident development, diverse clinical experiences, and access to rural communities across Georgia and Alabama. So far, I have especially enjoyed the relatable preceptors who have supported me through the transition to becoming a pharmacist while making the program feel like home.

Dr. Tavin Cook is from Kansas City, Kansas. She obtained her PharmD from the University of Kansas School of Pharmacy. Her practice interest is oncology.

Why I chose PCRM: I chose Piedmont after having the pleasure of meeting the previous residents and Jamie at midyear. That first impression truly stuck with me — the warmth, support, and positivity I felt during that interaction played a big role in my decision to choose Piedmont. I was searching for a residency program that felt friendly, encouraging, and uplifting — and PCRM has been exactly that.

I was a little nervous about being so far from home and whether I'd find a second family. But I quickly realized I had nothing to worry about. The support and kindness from Jamie, my co-residents, preceptors, and staff, have made this new and foreign place feel like home. PCRM has created a supportive community that lifts me up with encouragement while also keeping me grounded amid the busy life of residency.

Dr. Quartney Gilliam obtained her PharmD from the University of South Florida. Her practice interests include critical care and internal medicine.

What I have enjoyed the most so far: I've most enjoyed the strong sense of community and support among the residents and faculty at Piedmont. It truly feels like a place where people want you to succeed. The daily diverse clinical experiences have made every day both challenging and rewarding.

Dr. Delaney Peterson is from Huntsville, Alabama. She obtained her PharmD from Union University College of Pharmacy. Her practice interests include emergency medicine and critical care.

Why I chose PCRM: I chose Piedmont because its mission resonated with my values of service and community engagement. I deeply appreciate Piedmont's strong presence within the community, as well as its commitment to fostering a collaborative learning environment. Additionally, the diverse patient population provides an invaluable opportunity for me to grow and develop as a pharmacist.

Dr. Erin Schuld is from Huntsville, Alabama. She completed both her undergraduate and pharmacy studies at Auburn University. Following PGY1 completion, she is interested in pursuing a PGY2 residency focused on Cardiology.

What I have enjoyed the most so far: I have loved my time at Piedmont due to the support system. Everyone here cheers the residents on and makes Piedmont a welcoming exciting place to be!

PGY2 Residents

Dr. Emily Davis is originally from Columbus, Georgia. She received her PharmD from the University of Georgia and completed her PGY1 Residency at Piedmont Columbus Regional Midtown (PCRM). Her professional interests include critical care, emergency medicine as well as neonatology and pediatrics.

Why I chose PCRM: I chose to complete my PGY-1 residency at Piedmont Columbus Regional Midtown and stay for PGY-2 because of how well prepared our residents are to take any clinical pharmacist position after graduation. The program is extremely well-rounded and does a great job fostering independence.

Dr. Brooke Landry is originally from Lyerly, Georgia. She received her PharmD from the University of Georgia and completed her PGY1 Residency at Piedmont Columbus Regional Midtown (PCRM). Her professional interests include critical care, emergency medicine and cardiology.

Why I chose PCRM: I was drawn to PCRM's pharmacy residency program after completing the majority of my P4 rotations here. The program offers a supportive learning environment, diverse rotation opportunities, and a strong commitment to resident growth. Throughout the past two years, I have had consistent support and mentorship from both preceptors and co-residents and truly feel prepared for a career in critical care pharmacy.
